

College of Business
Journal List
Fall 2017

Research is fundamental to our identity as scholars and as a faculty. Research establishes our expertise, informs our teaching and sustains our intellectual distinctiveness. So it is essential that research in the College of Business be marked by excellence and impact.

To facilitate that, the College maintains a journal list. The list is meant to provide guidance and direction on the reputation and quality of journals across the disciplines in the College. The list is not meant to be exclusive of other types of intellectual contributions nor will it be used to drive a simple count system in making merit or promotion decisions. Rather, it should serve as a common benchmark for assessing, guiding and encouraging the pursuit of quality, recognition, and focus.
